

Reminder

Hi, 2nd grade parents,

This is just a reminder that Kidstuff classes resume this Sunday, December 4. I can't wait to be back in the classroom with your kids again! I've missed them!

If your child has not yet completed their "missions" (activity sheet and memory verse) that are due this Sunday, it's time for them to start working on those if they want those points! Remember, the activity sheet this week is worth 6 points since it's longer. If you need to reprint the activity sheet or verse card, please click the "Download This Week's Missions" button below. If you need to print previous missions, click the "Track Your Child's Progress" button, search their last name, and then click the "Missions" tab to see which ones they've not yet completed.

Finally, if they need to catch up on any of the Gospel of John DVD clips or Tank memory verse adventure episodes, click the YouTube link at the bottom of this email or under the "Resources" tab on the class web portal to access the class playlist.

See you Sunday!
Jonathan
